If the owner of the Sun Life GIFs contract requested that you be permitted to designate a beneficiary, the appropriate paperwork to make a beneficiary designation will be sent to you when the annuity purchase is processed. In Alberta, British Columbia or other provinces where permitted by law, you may designate a beneficiary for your payout annuity contract even if the owner of the Sun Life GIFs contract did not make this selection. If the annuity being purchased is non-registered, then you will also be required to submit the Identity verification, third party determination and politically exposed persons (PEP) for individual owners (4830-E) form.

Deferred annuities: Please note that the interest earned during the deferral period is taxed on the accrual basis and you will receive a tax slip each year leading up to the payment start date.

If your age plus the guaranteed period exceeds age 90, the interest earned is taxed on the accrual basis.

You can confirm if these details apply to you by consulting with your advisor, or contacting us at 1-844-SLF-GIFS (753-4437).

If you were designated to receive part of the death benefit in the form of a lump sum, please also complete the Payment instructions section for that amount.

Transfer (please choose one option)

RRSP/RRIF contracts: If you are the spouse, common law-partner, or other qualified beneficiary of the deceased (such as a financially dependent child), you, or your trustee where applicable, may choose to transfer the contract to your own RRSP/RRIF. The transfer may qualify as a tax-deferred rollover under the Income Tax Act. Where this is the case, we will issue you a T4RSP slip for the amount to be included in your taxable income, but you will also receive an offsetting 60(l) deduction receipt for the contribution amount to facilitate the tax-deferred rollover. If you are not a qualified beneficiary, you may choose to transfer the contract to your own registered account (RRSP or TFSA), however you are responsible for ensuring that you have the necessary contribution room available to avoid over-contribution penalties from CRA, and the full amount will be taxable to the estate of the deceased.*

Payment instructions – does not apply to Legacy settlement option (continued)

TFSA contracts: If you are the spouse or common-law partner of the deceased, you may choose to transfer the contract to your own TFSA without affecting your own TFSA contribution room. If you choose this option you also need to complete CRA form RC240- Designation of an Exempt Contribution Tax-Free Savings Account (TFSA) and submit it directly to the CRA within 30 days of the transfer. If you are not the spouse of the deceased, you may choose to transfer the amount to your own registered account (RRSP or TFSA), however you are responsible for ensuring that you have the necessary contribution room available to avoid over-contribution penalties from CRA. As TFSA proceeds are not taxable, no tax slip will be issued to the estate of the deceased.*

* These options and the resulting tax consequences should be discussed with your tax advisor prior to initiating the transfer, and the transfer must be completed within time frames specified by the Income Tax Act to be eligible for preferential tax treatment where available. Any amounts earned on the contract between the date of death and the date of transfer will be taxable to the named beneficiary.
